

Groups Act To Curb Panty Raid

Rumors of a panty raid supposedly to be staged on campus were disclosed this week, bringing forth several major actions by UK organizations to curb such an event.

Dean of Men L. L. Martin revealed the rumor to delegates attending the recent Leadership Conference at Camp Daniel Boone. Dean Martin said that a qualified source had informed him of "plans" for a student panty raid.

The Dean of Men said he had received a telephone call reporting the panty raid was to be held sometime this week. He did not disclose the caller's name.

Dean Martin, together with Dean of Women Sarah B. Holmes, asked the student leaders to help solve the problem. The two deans asked for possible preventive measures, as well as for ideas as how to channel mass student activity into constructive rather than destructive purposes.

Leadership Conference delegates discussed the problem, offering several suggestions and possible solutions.

The delegates' work on the panty raid problem was turned over to Dean Martin and Dean Holmes.

The Student Government Association was told of the situation at its regular meeting Monday night by Dean Martin. SGA assembly members passed a resolution opposing any type of mass student activity detrimental to the University.

The SGA resolution reads, "Resolved, the Student Government Association of the University of Kentucky goes on record as being opposed to any type of mass student activity that would be detrimental to the reputation of the school and supports the University's policies in regard to this matter."

Fraternity, sorority, and other UK organizations had called meetings at which members were informed of the panty raid rumors and urged to help stop such an action.

Residents of the men's and women's dormitories also were told about the panty raid rumors. It was pointed out that a panty raid would be detrimental not only to the student body, but also to the University itself.

The panty raid rumors came shortly after the Oct. 3 demonstration at Eastern State College in Richmond. No actual raid occurred at Eastern although between 200 and 300 male students at the college milled in front of Burnham Hall, a girls' dormitory, for about an hour yelling, "We want bloomers."

A police officer described the Eastern incident as "more noise than anything else."

UK was the victim of a panty raid in the spring of 1952. Nineteen students were suspended by the SGA Judiciary Committee for participation in the 1952 raid.

The much-publicized UK panty raid of 1952 was staged Wednesday night, May 21. Men students began gathering in front of the SUB about 8:45 p.m., and a few minutes after 9 p.m., a large crowd had gathered near the intersection of Limestone Street and the Avenue of Champions.

Leadership Conference

While much time was spent on problems of leadership, UK students attending the first annual Leadership Conference last weekend did find time for a little bridge and throwing the cow's husband. The three-day affair at Camp Daniel Boone on the Kentucky River proved a great success.

Leadership Aims Told Conference Delegates

The priorities of leadership were outlined last Friday night to some 50 University student leaders and potential leaders by Dr. Frank A. Rose, president of Transylvania College.

Dr. Rose's keynote address was delivered at the opening of the first UK Leadership Conference at Camp Daniel Boone.

The Transylvania president emphasized intelligent leadership, moral leadership, and leadership with vision in his speech. Dr. Rose said leaders must have a firm intellectual foundation based on intensive scholarly study. A leader must inspire confidence in his followers and approach the future with a realistic attitude, Dr. Rose concluded.

Dr. Rose noted that these traits could be discovered in our country's founders.

Last week's Leadership Conference was the first one at UK. The idea came from the University of Cincinnati where a similar conference has been an established yearly event.

UK's weekend meeting was sponsored by ODK, senior men's honorary, Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, and Lances, junior men's honorary. Miss Ruth Lewis was conference chairman.

University Trustees Seek New $6,390,000 Budget

LaBoheme Scheduled For Tonight

Charles L. Wagner's production of the opera "LaBoheme" will be presented at 8:15 tonight in Memorial Coliseum. This marks the first time an opera has been presented on the Central Kentucky Community Concert Series.

Puccini's opera will be presented in the English version as translated by Ruth and Thomas Martin. Mr. Wagner arranged for the English version of the opera last year after last season's critics and audiences responded so well to the English translation of "Madame Butterfly".

An orchestra, colorful and authentic costumes, and a select chorus make up the ensemble. Thomas Martin is the musical director and Desire Defrere is the artistic director.

This is the 16th season that Wagner has presented grand opera.

Total Is Increase Of Over $1.642,200

The University of Kentucky will ask the 1956 session of the General Assembly for appropriations totaling $6,390,000 for each of the next two fiscal years, a per year increase of $1,642,200 over the current budget.

Proposed increases are outlined for Kentuckians as follows by President H. L. Donovan:

New services and staff expansion, $517,000. "During the current biennium the University is enrolling approximately 3,000 more students than it had in 1952-54, yet there has been no increase in staff to take care of them. For the next two-year period, 1956-58, we anticipate an increase of some 6,000 students over the current biennium. There already is a shortage of teachers and research specialists and this shortage will continue to get worse."

Other current expenses and equipment increases, $236,150. "Scientific equipment for modern laboratories, classroom materials and supplies, and books for a great library—everything for the education of your sons and daughters—is more costly."

Salary increases, $371,000. "By comparison with other learned professions, government workers and many of the skilled crafts, our professors are at an economic disadvantage in these times of general prosperity. A small raise, given now, is an investment in the educational future of your sons and daughters."

To replace funds budgeted for the current year which will not be available for 1956-57, $250,000. "A surplus, carefully budgeted from federally-aided GI fees after the war, has now been exhausted in building a greater University for you. Good management stretched these funds to the utmost limits, but they are gone. Now the responsibility is Kentucky's."

Agricultural Experiment Station and Agricultural Extension Division, $268,050. "A prosperous agriculture for Kentucky means a prosperous Kentucky. Farming based on scientific research adds immeasurably to the total income for the agricultural program of the state."

Wrong Number

A lady in distress called the Kernel yesterday afternoon seeking a solution to a knotty little problem. It seems too many men are calling her.

They phone her at all hours of the day and night, and after a year it's getting kind of tiresome. She can't concentrate on her work.

To be perfectly frank most of the calls are mistakes. The boys think they're phoning the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority house, but actually they are talking to Miss Jimmie Lyons, secretary to the Howard K. Bell Consulting Engineer Company.

The people who print the Student Directory goofed last year. They listed the Bell number, 2-6191, as the Alpha Gam number. The AGD's number is 2-6141.

Serenades May Be Abolished

Sorority serenading may be abolished at UK, says Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, Dean of Women.

Social committees of the IFC and Panhellenic councils will meet with Miss Bruce Cruise, social director, to decide the fate of serenades by sororities and women's residence halls.

The Interfraternity Council, informed about the serenade situation, voted unanimously Tuesday night to go on record approving "formal" sorority serenades.

"Formal" serenades are those that are registered by the social director and placed on the social calendar.

The only negative action taken by the IFC dealing with serenades was the abolishment of "formal" fraternity serenades. If the social committee approves the action, fraternities may still serenade, but they will not be required to sign up for them.

No Admittance On Receipts

Athletic Director Bernie Shively told the Kernel today that no students will be admitted to tomorrow night's ball game with only a yellow registration receipt.

If you have not received your identification card, you must pick up a special admittance card in the Coliseum.

Keeneland To Be Dedicated

Keeneland Hall will be officially opened and dedicated Monday with a formal reception from 3-5 p.m. at the new girls' dorm.

More than 300 invitations have been issued to Central Kentucky residents.

These invitations include state and public officials among which are the mayor and commissioners of Lexington, state senators and representatives, and the Keeneland Association which contributed $200,000 toward the construction of the $1,250,000 structure.

After a guided tour through the new dorm by the girls living in Keeneland, the guests will assemble in the recreation room for an informal dedication of the dorm.

The dedication will be made by President Herman L. Donovan. At this time he will also thank Keeneland Association and all the others who made the construction of the dorm possible.

During the afternoon a cornerstone which will contain copies of the local papers, a Kentucky Kernel, bulletins and catalogues of the University, a copy of Dr. Donovan's speech "At the Threshold of Greatness", and the booklet that requests this year's budget will be placed in the building along with other publications.

The reception is by invitation only. An open house for the general public will be held Sunday, Oct. 23.

Panty Raid

The raiders struck Jewell, Patterson, and Boyd Halls, urged on by calls of "chicken" from the women residents. Five or six students went up a fire escape, and two went in, returning with women's clothes.

The 1952 raiders surged around the Chi Omega and Delta Delta Delta houses, but did not enter. From these houses the vandals went to the Lydia Brown house, where about 40 entered and sacked the building.

The mob then moved to the Kappa Alpha Theta house and the Kappa Delta house. Attempts were made to enter both houses, but both failed.

Following another try to enter Pitt Hall, raiders were dispersed by police. Several students were arrested and placed in patrol wagons.

Dean Martin said that men or women students involved in a panty raid would be subject to immediate expulsion from the University. A large number of campus organizations this week voted to put severe fines on members involved in any type of a detrimental mass demonstration.

Campus Cinema Proves Big Hit

A last minute rush on season tickets caused many people to be turned away at the first production of Campus Cinema last week.

Mrs. Ruby Hart, director of the Audio-Visual Department, stated that it was a regrettable incident and arrangements are being made to accommodate more of those who wish to attend in the future.

Plans had been made to sell 450 season tickets and, in the event all 450 were sold, no individual tickets were to be issued. After only 300 tickets were sold the first night, 75 individual tickets were put on sale. Shortly after 7 p.m. so many requests were made for season tickets that some season ticket holders could not be accommodated.

Mrs. Hart announced that if the University staff and student body are interested and desire an afternoon showing of the films, arrangements will be made to that effect. She said that the Guignol would not be available in the afternoon for two of the remaining films.

THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SMOOCH

Back in my courting days (the raccoon coat was all the rage, everybody was singing Good Morning, Mr. Zip, Zip, Zip and young Bonaparte had just left Corsica) back, I say, in my courting days, the standard way to melt a girl's heart was to write poetry to her.

Young men today have abandoned this gambit, and I must say I don't understand why. Nothing is quite as effective as poetry for moving a difficult girl. What's more, poems are ridiculously easy to write. The range of subject matter is endless. You can write a poem about a girl's hair, her eyes, her nose, her lips, her teeth, her walk, her talk, her clothes, her shoes—anything at all. Indeed, one of my most lumbent love lyrics was called To Maud's Pencil Box. It went like this:

In your dear little leatherette pencil box
Are pencils of yellow and red,
And if you don't tell me you love me soon,
I'll hit you on top of the head.

Honesty compels me to admit that this poem fell short of success. Nothing daunted, I wrote another one. This time I pulled a switch; I threatened myself instead of Maud.

Oh, Maud, pray stop this drivell
And tell me you'll be mine,
For my sweetbreads they do shrivel
And wind around my spine.

My heart doth cease its beating.
My spleen uncoils and warps.
My liver stops secreting.
Soon I needs be a corpse.

When this heart-rending ballad failed to move Maud, I could only conclude that she was cruel and heartless and that I was better off without her. Accordingly, I took back my Hi-Y pin, bid her adieu, and have not clapped eyes upon her since. Last I heard of her, she was in North Scituate, Rhode Island, working as a clam sorter.

There's no telling where it would have ended if she hadn't been drafted

But I did not mourn Maud long, for after Maud came Doris—Doris of the laughing eyes, Doris of the shimmering hair, Doris of the golden tibiae! Within moments of meeting her, I whipped up a torrent of trochaic tetrameter:

Oh, my sweet and dulcet Doris!
You're gentle as a Philip Morris,
With its mild and rich tobacco
And its white and scarlet pack-o,
Both in regular and king-size.
Doris, tell me please your ring size.

Well, of course, the poor girl couldn't resist a poem like that—what girl could?—and she instantly became my slave. For the rest of the semester she carried my books, washed my car, and cored my apples. There's no telling where it all would have ended if she hadn't been drafted.

So, men, you can see the efficacy of poetry as an aid to wooing. Try it soon. All you need is a rhyming dictionary, a quill pen, and a second-hand muse.

©Max Shulman, 1955

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS, sponsors of this column, give you no rhyme, but plenty of reason, for smoking Philip Morris: It's the gentlest, pleasantest cigarette on the market today.

Bad Mistake

One of the most serious black marks that the University of Kentucky has had to erase in recent years was the infamous "panty" raid in the spring of 1952.

The action, which started in the form of a minor raid, resulted in the suspension of 19 students and damages running into thousands of dollars. This, coupled with the tremendous loss of prestige the University suffered, made May 21, 1952 a hard pill for everyone connected with the institution to swallow.

Currently circulating on the campus are rumors of anonymous phone calls, and other communications that are stirring the populace with the idea that another panty raid is prevalent in the near future. Perhaps if those who are involved, or supposed to be involved, can pause for a moment and look past their noses into the consequences of such an act. If they can, the whole matter will quietly be dropped.

Let us pause and view the implications, based on reports of the scandal of 1952:

1. The raid would not be limited to the one co-ordinating group. Here the principles of mob violence take over, and attract all types of people from all over town.

2. People from outside the University would certainly not have any respect for anything connected with it. Therefore damages would be much greater than usual.

3. It is not the planners who take the rap. After the last raid, even though there was disciplinary action taken against 19 students, the ring-leaders were never caught.

4. Physical injuries were numerous in the chaos which occurred in 1952. One house-mother had to take a leave of absence.

5. The University's prestige has been built to a peak this year by such things as its Leadership Conference and the fact that its fraternities made the highest average of any campus in the nation last semester. This could all be destroyed in a single night by such an obnoxious, immature occurrence as a panty raid.

6. Finally, taking all of these things into account, the administration has announced that anyone caught participating will be expelled.

Summing up these different reasons, an appeal is made to the student. Should he incite a mob to fanatical violence, cause a good deal of monetary waste, take the rap for someone else, perhaps cause physical injury to someone, ruin his university's prestige, and get himself thrown out of school all for a pair of frilly panties?

Let's hope not.

Almost Perfect

Although several phases of the inaugural UK Leadership Conference held last week left much to be desired, the three-day event certainly deserves to be termed successful.

It is almost impossible to start off some major undertaking such as a Leadership Conference without hitting a few snags. The 80 delegates to the initial meeting of UK campus leaders, however, proved that the idea is both feasible and workable.

Several campus problems were ironed out, there were some excellent ideas and suggestions produced, and good leaders were given points on how to be better leaders.

Perhaps one of the most talked-of hindrances to a completely successful conference was the cold weather. Delegates agreed that it was difficult at best to concentrate on leadership sessions in the chill October weather.

This obstruction could be avoided next year if the conference were moved up two or three weeks. Less than a month ago students were enjoying the shirt-sleeves warmth of Indian Summer.

Another difficulty encountered was that there was too much general problem solving and not enough handling of individual troubles. There should be a balance of the two.

Potential leaders, in many cases, were asked to tackle knotty problems that would throw even the most experienced of persons who have already attained leadership positions. The potential leaders should be given pointers, not problems.

A few flaws in the initial Leadership Conference only point the way to better ones in the future. With a few changes, the UK Leadership Conference could be one of the greatest single factors in campus life each year. Certainly the success of the first conference points in that direction.

Sad Story

One of the saddest occurrences on campus has been the steady decline in the prestige of the Miss Kentuckian title. The Miss Kentuckian contest was originally set up as the top beauty pageant on campus. It has degenerated to just another minor affair. No one particularly cares who wins.

What has happened in recent years is hard to determine. Who's fault it has been cannot easily be answered. Lamp and Cross, the sponsoring organization, is partly to blame. Their interest in the contest and the dance has seemingly slackened. When they last interest, the the rest of the campus followed suit.

A new and better system of queen selection and a revamped dance is sadly needed. The dance is not until next semester, so there is plenty of time for changes to be made.

For one thing there is a need for more contestants. Last year less than 20 girls were entered. This is not a large enough group to select the most beautiful girl on campus.

One answer would be to make all other beauty queens automatic candidates for Miss Kentuckian. This would insure that the tagline, "queen of queens," would be true. In theory all other queens are subordinate to Miss Kentuckian. Make it a fact. These queens would include all those elected during the last spring semester as well as the present fall semester.

Add to this group all the fraternity sweethearts. The fraternities who do not have sweethearts would elect the girl they think is most outstanding. This would make a representative group of good looking girls.

Have the eliminations start about three weeks before the dance. An election would decide the top ten. These girls would be presented to the student body at the home basketball game closest to the dance. A board of judges picked from townspeople would then choose Miss Kentuckian.

Miss Kentuckian should definitely represent the University at the Mountain Laurel Festival as well as any other beauty contest UK might enter.

Kindergarten?

Editor's note—This editorial was submitted by an exchange student.

Most Americans believe that the only difference between high and elementary levels of education is to be found in the material taught. Whereas the first-grader studies A, B, C; 2 & 2 = 4, etc., the university student studies philosophy, economics, law, etc. For other than this they both follow the same pattern: they are supposed to be at school at a certain hour; they have daily assignments, tests, pop-quizzes and so forth.

Very few realize that this is not the case in European and some outstanding American universities. These institutions take it for granted that a university student is a mature person who can be responsible for himself. He may get his material in class (if the lecture is expected to be a good one), or in the library. He may study day by day, or put it off for the last week before the final exams, which are the only tests during the semester. It is up to him.

It is true that in this country higher education is more popular. Under the prevailing system almost everybody may go to college, and many actually do so. Very well. If Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Everybody—or their parents—prefer to extend their childhood by being "college kids," let them have it! Let them have super-high schools, where "kids" may get academical degrees.

But why make Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Somebody to be school-boys and school-girls again?

Why make mature persons do homework like little children?

Why make grownups attend every class, when they can get the same material elsewhere?

Why make fun of fully grown men and women by calling the roll and asking excuses for absences?

Why make students who sometimes are parents, sometimes even grandparents, feel themselves back in kindergarten?

Why kill one of the most conspicuous values of democracy—the spirit of individualism?

Why use army uniformity methods in academic institutions?

If a fully matured people is to be raised up; if the spirit of individual independence is to be preserved; if the sense of responsibility is to be developed—let institutions of "free study," individual study, be established at least side-by-side with the present day colleges and universities.

Otherwise we won't have anything but extended grade schools and learned school-boys and school-girls.

Good Idea

Possibly one of the best suggestions that came out of the recent Leadership Conference was the one to convert the unused Little Commons building to a student recreation spot.

The Little Commons at one time served as a dining hall for UK male students. Closed and empty now, the building has served no purpose for several years.

Many students have noticed the yellow frame building which is situated near the exit of the main entrance to the University. Possibly only a few have wondered why the structure is not put to use.

Delegates to the Leadership Conference agreed that the building could be put to a good use on campus. There is a definite need for more student social life, delegates said, and an equal need for a place for such activities.

An outsider may be amazed that the massive Student Union Building is not the answer to the question of where student social life should originate. The UK student knows better.

The SUB is an excellent place for big dances, meetings, and semi-formal gatherings. The grill, located in the basement of the SUB, is perennially the most popular day-time spot on campus.

However for impromptu get-togethers, "small" parties, and most night functions, the Student Union does not always fill the bill. The grill is closed at night, and the SUB Ballroom is certainly not the place for small, informal functions.

The Little Commons could easily be converted to a "night-time grill" that would have a dance floor, tables, and a refreshment booth. The furniture and equipment necessary for such a conversion need not be expensive.

It is well known among students that "atmosphere" is often what draws a crowd. What other groups would term "crowded, distasteful, and noisy" in gathering places is termed "atmosphere" by college students.

A converted Little Commons would be an ideal student gathering place, both in its location and in its "atmosphere." It would be large enough to accommodate a good deal of students, but small enough to make the place congenial.

Only UK students and their dates should be admitted to the Little Commons, if it were re-done as suggested. If a fee were charged, it should be small.

It would be a fine thing if the Leadership Conference delegates follow up their suggestion of getting UK a "night-time grill." The University needs a small, well-situated gathering place for more student activity. The Little Commons appears to be the answer.

Lances Had Turbulent Start In Ancestor, "Mystic 13"

Lances, junior men's honorary, which is sponsoring its annual Carnival next weekend, has not always been the dignified and respected organization it is today. It ancestor—the Mystic 13—was a renegade of the first degree.

The Mystic 13 was organized at the University in 1900 as a junior honorary and social organization. How it functioned and finally disappeared from the campus is a mystery to most students today.

Invitations to membership in the Mystic 13—so named because the roster was limited to that number—were scrawled in red ink on torn pieces of brown wrapping paper.

The invitations always were discovered by candidates in the most mysterious places and at the most unexpected times.

The paper might be found dangling from the coat tail, wadded up in the coffee cup or possibly stuffed in a salad. After invitations were extended, the pledges were required to wear black arm-bands bearing a red 13 pierced by a dagger.

When the day for initiation arrived, pledges were instructed to go to some particular spot and await further orders. They were kept waiting for hours, perched on a fireplug, a house top, or some equally uncomfortable place.

Mystic 13 actives hours later secured a jolt wagon and team from some livery stable and then went the rounds collecting their pledges and beginning the journey to the initiation site.

This trip certainly must have proved a nightmare to the prospective members. They were cuffed about, thrown down, stepped upon and generally made uncomfortable. Among other things, initiation consisted of wearing a strip of adhesive tape around

The Workshop

By RAY HORNBACK

Last weekend, yours truly spent an enjoyable but rather cool weekend on the Kentucky River. The occasion—the first in what we hope to be a long series of leadership conference.

Sponsored by ODK, Mortar Board Link, and Lances, the affair began Friday night and lasted until Sunday noon. Many problems of leadership were raked over the coals and much was accomplished by the 70 or so top UK student leaders who attended.

Probably the high point of the conference was the Friday night opening address given by Transylvania President, Frank Rose. The noted lecturer gave an inspiring and extremely down to earth address which captivated his student audience.

Elsewhere in the Kernel, you will find a story, an editorial and many pictures on the conference. It looks as if there's nothing left to me but to fill you in on a few sidelights and incidental happenings at the conference.

First off, I must get rid of the only real gripe I have in connection with the conference—our living quarters. It wasn't that I minded spiders, the rats, the cavernous cracks in the floors, and the fact Dave Noyes swiped my blankets. What I just couldn't take was the air-conditioning.

And did we have air-conditioning? Old Daniel Boone really prepared for hot nights when he built our cabins. After reaching halfway to the ceiling with what must have been green lumber—the old boy decided that screening would suffice the rest of the distance.

Needless to say, the cool evening breezes from the hauntingly beautiful Kentucky River made the nights quite cold.

There were several observations I made which might have seemed on campus, it was just about reversed at the conference. I might add here that the fairset of the fair, Ruth Lewis, did a superb job handling this initial confab. What a fine place this would be if we had more students as energetic and sincere as the pert little Ruthie.

One BMOC pulled the best stunt of the weekend when he pushed out into the Kentucky River, only to find that he had failed to take along oars for his rain-filled boat.

The same jokerster managed to hide the camp bugle when he found that the thing would be used to awaken him at 7:30 a.m.

Singing around the bonfire, square dancing, bridge, ping-pong, and eating popcorn around a fire-place did much to make UK's present and future leaders have a restful and enjoyable weekend. But most important were the ideas, thoughts and problems exchanged by the students. I was somewhat surprised and greatly pleased to witness the fine attitude and spirit of by fellow students.

Dr. Earl Kauffman of the physical education department summed it all up when he said, "Your future is in your thoughts and actions."

the hand, underneath which was a pad saturated with acid and bearing the 13 stamp so that the number was burned into the flesh.

In 1928, rough hazing sent one pledge to the hospital for treatment and led to a University edict that the organization be disbanded in the interest of the students and the University.

Lances Combined Circus, Night Club In First Carnival

The first Lances Carnival, jointly sponsored with Suky and held 13 years ago, combined the rowdy gaiety of a circus with the sophistication of a night club. Although the skirts were a little shorter and the hair was a little longer, it was much the same affair that it is today.

Booths were erected on the intramural field, the same as two years ago, with such familiar titles as "Horror House" and "Baseball Pitching." One organization sponsored a contest where people tried to throw rings around the necks of three moving geese.

While the 20 fraternities and sororities participating in the skits were carrying on their activities, a night club was in operation on the second floor balcony of the Student Union. Couples dined and danced in between the two floor shows, and the queen was presented at the end of the second one.

In this spring of 1942 Carnival, the only prize presented was for the queen. She received a trophy for not only her popularity and appearance but also the success of her sponsoring booth. The skits received no individual recognition of their own.

Leadership Aims Told Delegates

The conference was divided into lectures on the problems of leadership and group discussions.

The windup address was given by Dr. Earl Kauffman, director of the Department of Physical Education at UK.

Dr. R. W. Bishop, dean of men at the University of Cincinnati, spoke on the techniques of leadership, and a workshop on parliamentary procedure was conducted Saturday morning.

After each lecture small groups hashed over the important facets of the speeches.

A concrete problem was presented to the Conference by Dean of Men L. L. Martin and Dean of Women Sarah B. Holmes. Dean Martin asked the group to try to devise measures to prevent a rumored panty raid at UK.

The conference closed Sunday afternoon following interdenominational church services and Dr. Kauffman's address.

Sigma Chi Derby In Spotlight As Campus Has Full Schedule

From now until after the Tennessee game, it looks as though there won't be a spare moment on the UK campus. The Sigma Chi Derby heads the bill of activities this weekend, and in all probability, the male students will find an enjoyable Saturday afternoon awaiting them as they view the outlandish "battle" between sororities. It will be a toss up between Keeneland and the Sigma Chi Derby.

Officers Elected

Pledges of the sororities have now begun their weekly meetings and the newly elected presidents are Bonnie Queen, Delta Zeta; Ann Vimont, Chi Omega; Nancy Cunningham, Alpha Delta Pi; Jane Fowley, Kappa Alpha Theta; Kathy Alexander, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Betty Gabehart, Kappa Delta.

New president of the Junior Panhellenic is Carol Yates, Chi Omega.

Auburn Game

Word has it that three ex-Kentucky students, who are now vet students at Auburn, turn-coated against Auburn and rooted for UK. In appreciation to Bill Macklin, KS; Jon Kresin, KS, and Bob Hale—thanks.

Speaking of the Auburn game, the band and cheerleaders Marcie Burman, Red Caulkin, Ken Tyree and Karl Eggenpiller all did a fine job in helping to support the team.

'Here and There'

The poor males at the University of Kansas have finally found a solution to their three-to-one ratio problem. For the lonely two-thirds who will inevitably be left without dates, such things as (1) joining the Book of the Month Club, and (2) taking up stamp collecting, are suggested.

A "Bermuda Poll" at North Texas State College in Denton, Texas, revealed that 60 per cent of all students questioned said "no" to shorts and, on the other side, 40 per cent voted "yes." One girl was quoted as saying, "If all the girls had legs like mine, they wouldn't be seen in Bermuda shorts!"

One young freshman was overheard to remark in the Grill several weeks ago, "I know I'm in the Grill, but where's the Student Union Building?"

Someone remarking over the lack of cheering at football games decided that there is only one thing that can insure out and out noise, pep and spirit at games—football or basketball.

Admit no one to the game wearing a sport coat, tie, earrings or shoes with heels over an inch high.

Palmer Returns As Instructor

A former UK football player has returned here as an instructor—not in athletics but Air Science.

He is Maj. Robert T. Palmer, associate professor of Air Science, who graduated from the University in 1941. Maj. Palmer played three years of varsity football (1938-40) while he was a student here, and in 1939 he was named to the honorable mention All-America polls.

After his graduation from the University Maj. Palmer coached football at Harlan until December, 1941. He then went to Maxwell Field (now Maxwell Air Force Base), Ala. as a civilian physical training instructor. There, in August, 1942, he enlisted in the service.

Maj. Palmer was then sent to Officer Candidate School at Miami Beach, Fla. and was graduated in December, 1942. He served as commandant of cadets at the school until he was sent to Combat Intelligence School in April, 1944.

In May, 1945 Maj. Palmer was sent to Okinawa—arriving before the island had been entirely secured from the Japanese Army. He was at Okinawa when the first atom bomb was dropped on Nagasaki.

After the war Maj. Palmer was discharged but he re-enlisted as a Master Sergeant and was soon awarded a regular Air Force commission. He has served in Panama and Germany since World War II and he has just returned to the United States after 2½ years service at Taichung Air Force Base, Japan.

Radio Group Gives Supper

The Radio Arts Department will give a buffet supper for over 70 Kentucky broadcasting executives tonight at 5:30 p.m.

This will be part of the Kentucky Broadcasters' Association's annual convention which is being held this week in Lexington for the first time in several years.

The state's radio men will be escorted to the WBKY studios by the radio majors and taken on a tour of the station, getting an opportunity to see it in operation.

It will also give the organization's new members a chance to study WBKY's facilities, which are among the best and most elaborate in the state.

After the tour they will be given a buffet supper in the station's largest studio. While there they will be entertained by the radio majors.

In 1950, the University received an income of $8,859,114.98.

Lambert Elected Phi Beta President

Charlotte Lambert has been elected president of Phi Beta, national music and speech honorary.

Other officers are Joan Skaggs, vice president; Susie Shively, secretary; Ebba Jo Haageusen, treasurer; Quida Farmer, corresponding secretary; Ann Louise Foster, historian; and Elizabeth Kemper, doorkeeper.

Here's something unique in education.

Near the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft plant in East Hartford, Conn., a full-fledged graduate center was established this fall by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Located 115 miles from R.P.I.'s home campus in upper New York State, the new graduate facilities will enable working engineers from Pratt & Whitney Aircraft and other companies in the Hartford area to continue their studies. Without interrupting normal employment, it will be possible for students to obtain advanced degrees in specialized fields from the nation's oldest engineering college.

Designed to raise the level of knowledge and to broaden the base from which advanced research can be approached, this entire program will simultaneously lead enrolled engineers to greater achievement in their careers.

Sigma Chi Derby To Be Tomorrow

Kentucky Derby will be the theme for the sixth annual Sigma Chi Derby to be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. on the Intramural Field.

Eight events are planned for the annual pledge event. These are the obstacle course titled Steeple Chase, a stilt race, tomato toss, sack race, greased pig grapple, three-legged race, pie eating contest, and the Kentucky Derby Queen.

The stilt race is new this year. It started out to be a pogo-stick race but enough pogo-sticks couldn't be located. Stilts will be made from tin cans with strings running from the side of the can to the contestants' hand.

In the tomato toss one Sigma Chi pledge will be the bull's eye at which the sorority pledges will aim.

In the Kentucky Derby Queen contest or the Run for the Roses, two pledges from each sorority will try to fit the Sweetheart form. It is hoped that the girls in this event will be 5 feet 7 in. or under in high heels.

Then And Now

Kentucky alumni from Alabama, Kentucky and many other states had a giant reunion in Birmingham last weekend when Kentucky met Auburn on the football field.

An alumni organization came into being in Birmingham, with Charles Young Jr., '50, formerly of Hopkinsville named its president; Tom Brooks, '22, of Bellevue and Birmingham, vice president; Mrs. Terry Noland (Joan Taylor), '43, secretary; and Jay Daniel, '55, treasurer.

Sprigg Ebbert, '11, and Phil Orem, '32, were two of the moving spirits in the pre-organization plans, and arranged for a charter bus to carry a group of Kentucky rooters to and from the football field.

A banquet was held at the Hotel Thomas Jefferson on Friday night, with approximately 70 Alabama-UK alumni present, and following the game the Alumni Association held open house in the Terrace Room of the same hotel.

A large group of former lettermen, now in service or in the coaching profession in the south, turned up at headquarters and at the game to cheer the Wildcats, as did a group of graduates now in service, and stationed in and near Alabama.

Among those who came to the registration desk were: former Wildcats Doug Moseley, Burgess Carey, Neil Lowery, Tom Harper, Dick Mitchell, Jim Proffitt, Roy Ford, Depey Phelps, Doug Parrish, Jim Pence, John Eibner, Col. W. T. Carpenter, Maj. Dick Nufer, Randall and Earl Phillips, Bill Hall, Bo Bo Farris, Jess Curry, Red Simpson, and Phil Cutchin.

Service men who came in, in addition to some of those mentioned above, were Lt. Joel F. Deming, Lt. George Bruce Miller Jr., and Guy A. Hugueter Jr.

Second Lt. William H. Boggs, '54, of Lexington, recently completed training as an aircraft observer at Ellington Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduate Exams To Be Given Fitch Elected Boyd President

Graduate Record Examination will be given all new graduate students next week. All beginning graduate students, whether working toward a master's or doctor's degree, will be required to take these national standardized tests.

Graduate Records Examinations are given in all states and in some foreign countries. They are intended to measure the student's aptitude for advanced study, his general undergraduate knowledge, and his more specialized knowledge of his major subject. The examinations come in three sessions and last a day and a half.

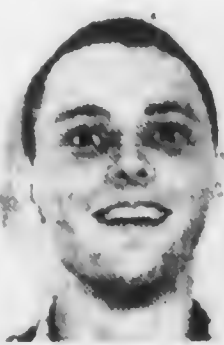

Jane Fitch was elected president of Boyd Hall Monday night. The other officers elected were Frances M. Allen, vice-president, Sue Chandler, secretary and treasurer, Joan Stadelman, house chairman, and Donna Reed, social chairman.

COLONEL of the WEEK

The Stirrup Cup is very proud to present as the Colonel of the Week, one of UK's most notorious graduates—Ronald J. Butler.

Mr. Butler, a former editor of the Kernel, is widely known as an authority on Martians, elevator shafts, little green men from outer space, and the WCTU. Ronald's most noteworthy accomplishment while at UK was his successful crusade for removal of the radioactive fence located beside the Journalism Building.

We have been forewarned that Mr. Butler will be on campus for the Mississippi State game tomorrow night. Thus we feel it our duty to pass this joyful note along to all of Ron's dear friends.

Rejoice! Allah! Hoorah! Three cheers! Ungah! Ugh! Butler's back!

'Marching 100' Announces Show

The half-time show presented by the "Marching 100" tomorrow will open with 1954 Fanfare. After several intricate marching steps the group will come downfield playing "Pride of the Illini."

At midfield they will break into a series of three precision drills. The first consists of a fan drill toward the sidelines. In the second they will fan out toward the end zones and, in the third drill, they will break up into four companies.

For the concert numbers the band will form "Duke" on the field and play one of Duke Ellington's favorites "Take A Train."

After reversing the formation and marching toward the south stands, the band will play a concert arrangement of another of Ellington's compositions, "Caravan," arranged by Cecil Carrick of Eastern High School. Both numbers will be conducted by Director Warren Lutz.

To climax the show the "Marching 100" will execute the block countermarch and then form the "Marching Cats" while playing a jazz arrangement of Dixie.

The next appearance of the Marching 100 will be at the Florida game, Oct. 22.

Condemnation Suit Set For Tuesday

The University of Kentucky has brought condemnation proceedings against the property at the site of the new Pharmacy College. The action was taken when the University and the property owners were unable to agree on a purchase price, Frank D. Peterson, vice president, announced.

The Washington Ave. property belongs to Mrs. Job D. Turner, who asked $57,500. The University offered $40,000.

The date of the hearing has been set for Tuesday, Oct. 18.

Dr. Peterson stated that the controversy is not expected to affect the plans for the construction of the new college.

Negotiations for the site have been going on since last March.

Press Club Submits Petition

The Henry Watterson Press Club of the School of Journalism is petitioning Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, in an attempt to re-charter the now inactive Kentucky chapter.

Twenty junior and senior male journalism students will send a formal petition to the Sigma Delta Chi convention that is to be held in Chicago beginning Nov. 8.

Some of the officers of the Henry Watterson Press Club will attend as un-official delegates to lobby for the approval of the petition.

Sigma Delta Chi was first established on this campus on March 15, 1928. However, due to the full impact of the depression years, financial difficulties mounted and the chapter requested an inactive status for the fraternity.

Petitioning members have received endorsement from the Columbus Professional Chapter, Kentucky Press Association, and the Ohio State, Indiana University, and Ohio University under-graduate chapters.

The Club has also received a recommendation from the Louisville Professional Chapter which is helping the members file the formal petition.

Mr. Ed Easterly, Kentucky Associated Press bureau chief, and Mr. Floyd Edwards, assistant managing editor of the Louisville Times, met with the club last week and explained to them the proper steps to take in getting the chapter of Sigma Delta Chi re-established.

A FLIGHT OF IMAGINATION prompted the Droodle above—it's titled: Flying saucer with Lucky-smoking crew. But it's a down-to-earth fact that Luckies taste better than any other cigarettes—and for down-to-earth reasons. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that light, mild tobacco is toasted to taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, "Glurg shrldu!" (In saucer language, that means, "For taste that's out of this world, light up a Lucky!")

'Marching 100' Announces Show

The half-time show presented by the "Marching 100" tomorrow will open with 1954 Fanfare. After several intricate marching steps the group will come downfield playing "Pride of the Illini."

At midfield they will break into a series of three precision drills. The first consists of a fan drill toward the sidelines. In the second they will fan out toward the end zones and, in the third drill, they will break up into four companies.

For the concert numbers the band will form "Duke" on the field and play one of Duke Ellington's favorites "Take A Train."

After reversing the formation and marching toward the south stands, the band will play a concert arrangement of another of Ellington's compositions, "Caravan," arranged by Cecil Karrick of Eastern High School. Both numbers will be conducted by Director Warren Lutz.

To climax the show the "Marching 100" will execute the block countermarch and then form the "Marching Cats" while playing a jazz arrangement of Dixie.

The next appearance of the Marching 100 will be at the Florida game, Oct. 22.

Condemnation Suit Set For Tuesday

The University of Kentucky has brought condemnation proceedings against the property at the site of the new Pharmacy College. The action was taken when the University and the property owners were unable to agree on a purchase price, Frank D. Peterson, vice president, announced.

The Washington Ave. property belongs to Mrs. Job D. Turner, who asked $57,500. The University offered $40,000.

The date of the hearing has been set for Tuesday, Oct. 18.

Dr. Peterson stated that the controversy is not expected to affect the plans for the construction of the new college.

Negotiations for the site have been going on since last March.

Press Club Submits Petition

The Henry Watterson Press Club of the School of Journalism is petitioning Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, in an attempt to re-charter the now inactive Kentucky chapter.

Twenty junior and senior male journalism students will send a formal petition to the Sigma Delta Chi convention that is to be held in Chicago beginning Nov. 8.

Some of the officers of the Henry Watterson Press Club will attend as un-official delegates to lobby for the approval of the petition.

Sigma Delta Chi was first established on this campus on March 15, 1928. However, due to the full impact of the depression years, financial difficulties mounted and the chapter requested an inactive status for the fraternity.

Petitioning members have received endorsement from the Columbus Professional Chapter, Kentucky Press Association, and the Ohio State, Indiana University, and Ohio University under-graduate chapters.

The Club has also received a recommendation from the Louisville Professional Chapter which is helping the members file the formal petition.

Mr. Ed Easterly, Kentucky Associated Press bureau chief, and Mr. Floyd Edwards, assistant managing editor of the Louisville Times, met with the club last week and explained to them the proper steps to take in getting the chapter of Sigma Delta Chi re-established.

Leadership Conference Speakers

Dr. Robert W. Bishop, Dean of Men at the University of Cincinnati, and Dr. Frank Rose, Transylvania University President, spoke to UK student leaders last weekend at the first annual Leadership Conference at Camp Daniel Boone.

Eskimo Visits UK Campus

"My friends won't believe me when I tell them about my trip," Guy Okakok, an Alaskan Eskimo visiting UK, repeated over and over during his stay.

"At each street corner, cars and cars going by—nothing like that even in Fairbanks."

Okakok has been especially impressed by our economic system; he thinks our fuel bills are "awfully low" and is amazed by the price of fresh fruit. He is leaving his Eskimo outfit here and taking back a suitcase full of apples, onions and pears.

A guest of the University, he is spending a week in Lexington lecturing to the "Societies Around the World" classes of combined geography, sociology, and anthropology. He will also be at University High, Lafayette High, and Christ the King grammar school.

Okakok has been "a little surprised at the Lexington weather," finding it much too hot but likes the early mornings we call "cool." He is positive that they are "warm."

Wednesday he went to the Keeneland Races. This was the first time he has ever seen a horse, although once in Fairbanks he saw "a mule, maybe?"

He will see the UK-Mississippi game tomorrow, but the game won't be new to him. Football is a popular sport in Barrow, but they don't wear shoulder pads and knee pads.

One of his sons, 8, wanted to come to the States and cried "great tears" when left behind. His eldest daughter is working in Tahoma now as a registered nurse.

He will show native works and speak about his country tomorrow morning at the Student Union Building. Lectures are open to the public, but a 25c admission will be charged.

Cooperstown Applications Being Taken

Applications for the new Cooperstown Apartments are now being taken in the Dean of Men's office.

These applications can be made either in person or by mail. Families now living in Shawneetown and old Cooperstown have first priority providing they sign up by Nov. 1.

All other families will be given priority to the housing as of the date on which their applications are received in the Dean of Men's office.

Applicants will not be required to make a deposit on time of application but a $25 deposit must be made when the unit is assigned. It is expected that the new apartments will be ready on or before Sept. 1, 1956.

These apartments will house 333 families with one and two bedroom units available. The apartments will contain the minimum furnishings for preparation of food and general living.

Keen Johnson Speaks To Journalism Students

"The foundation for success in newspaper work is that you first must become a superior reporter," Keen Johnson, former governor of Kentucky, told students of the School of Journalism in a National Newspaper Week message Friday, Oct. 7.

Describing himself as a "country newspaper editor" he stressed the importance of trivial news to the country paper and the fact that names are news in a small paper. He said the inexperienced journalism graduate should gain experience as a reporter before trying to get into public relations work.

Around The Turntable

By JOHN ALEXANDER

Here's hoping we are the first to catch an error which somehow slipped through our hands into last week's column. From the wording of one paragraph, one could have concluded that we were insinuating that "Seventeen" was a steal from "Five Foot Two." This we did not intend, and hereby hope to clear the matter up.

What we did intend to say, was that the one tune reminds us of the other. And this is in no way a reflection on the legitimacy of either tune, or on the honesty and sincerity of anyone concerned.

Thus we hasten to correct ourselves, and any misconceptions that might have arisen, and offer bouquets, apologies, and best wishes to all concerned.

Add these tunes to the up-and-coming list: "Amukiriki" and "Magic Melody" by Les and Mary, Pat Boone's "At My Front Door," and "No Arms Can Ever Hold You."

In view of some excellent album releases of late, we'd like to mention a couple or three. One is a brand new Victor by June Valli, called The Torch, featuring such tunes as "My Man," "Bill," and "I Get Along Without You Very Well." Ork backing is by Joe Reisman, and the work as a whole is tops.

On Decca, the Ink Spots are featured with a new album featuring the best of the original quartet ("Hoppy" Jones, Bill Kenney, Charlie Fuqua, and "Deek" Watson). "Do I Worry?", "Java Jive," and "If I Didn't Care" are a few of the sides.

And for the progressive fans, Helen Carr's album (Bethlehem) Down on the Depths of the 90th Floor is among the greatest. Also, we like the new idea of Victor's "Pop Shoppers" and the Columbia record club, more of which we'll mention in a later column.

Now here's the current top ten: "Yellow Rose," Mitch Miller; "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," Four Aces; "Autumn Leaves," Roger Williams; "Ain't That A Shame," Pat Boone; "Seventeen," Boyd Bennett; "Wake The Town," Mindy Carson; "Bible Tells Me So," Don Cornell; "Suddenly There's A Valley," Cogi Grant; "Moments To Remember," Four Lads; and "Shifting Sands," Billy Vaughn.

Aereonautical Laboratory Awarded Research Contest

The University of Kentucky's Aeronautical Research Laboratory has been awarded a $25,000 research contract by the Air Force for the development of camera testing equipment to be used in aerial reconnaissance photography.

Announcement of the new project was made jointly recently by Dr. Karl O. Lange, associate director of the UK Engineering Experiment Station, and Dr. Merl Baker, director of the Kentucky Research Foundation.

The project will be administered by the Research Foundation through the Department of Mechanical Engineering, headed by Prof. E. B. Penrod. UK officials said the contract came from the Aerial Reconnaissance Laboratory of the Wright Air Development Center, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio.

Engineers at the UK laboratory already have completed the first phase of the project—the making of a survey of all available camera testing equipment—and have received their first work direct from a Dayton.

6 Teams Undeclared In I-M Play

By SCOOP WHITE

Six teams remain undefeated and untied after the first two weeks of intramural football. They are SAE, SN, PKT, PDT, Law School, and Dorm I.

SAE won their second and third straight games of the season by defeating KS 32-0 and KA 19-0. In the KS game the SAE scoring was distributed among four players with Jim Baxter leading the way with two touchdowns. SAE's other scores came on C. M. Boone's 20 yard run, Curt Congleton's 30 yard end run, and Baxter's pass to Don Bennett.

Baxter again was the leading factor in SAE's victory over KA. In the closing moments of the first half he threw a 50 yard scoring pass to Don Frazier. Congleton scored on an end run and Baxter smashed through the center for the other.

Jim Ingram scored two touchdowns to lead SN to a 19-0 victory over SX. Ingram scored first on a pass from Dave Noyes and then intercepted a pass by Bill White and ran it back 50 yards for the TD. The third SN touchdown came on a pass from Noyes to Jim Campbell. Noyes passed to Ingram for the extra point.

PKT, led by Gene Neff, romped to an easy 25-0 victory over TKE as they tallied touchdowns in every quarter.

Marney Beard opened the point making with a 10 yard end run. In the second period, Neff intercepted a pass and sprinted for the TD. Tom Preston passed to Neff for the thirteenth point. In the third frame Preston tossed to Tom Conway for another touchdown while Wes Johnson's six point pass to Neff in the final quarter ended PKT's scoring.

In the most exciting game of the young season, PDT handed DTD their first loss, 13-7. DTD went to the PDT two yard line in the closing moments of the game, but could not score. DTD opened the scoring when Buzz Mattingly

This Is Flag???

Triangle and AGR mix it up in rough fashion during their 7-7 tie in I-M play. Six teams remain undefeated as regular season contests move into the third week of action.

tallied on a screen pass from Danny Wright. Dave Becker ran for the extra point. On the following kickoff, PDT scored on a double reverse when Jack Rigby ran 70 yards for the marker. Rigby raced for the extra point. The winning touchdown was made when Obie Johnson intercepted a pass and ran it back to the DTD two-yard line. From there, Jack Marston passed to Joe Teague for the score.

PDT won their other game last week by 23-0 over AGR. Rigby, Johnson, and Gerald Denney scored the Phi Delt touchdowns.

Law School had it easy this week when they won a forfeit over Rock Crushers. They defeated Freshman AC last week 12-0.

Dorm I, after winning over YMCA last week, led Civil Engineers 12-0 at half-time when rain halted play. The game will probably not be replayed unless Dorm I finishes in a tie at the end of the season and needs to play again. Dorm I's two scores came on Jim Gibson's punt return and Jim Arnold's pass interception.

ATO won over ZBT 13-0 for its first victory of the season. Jim Waldron passed to Bill Burks for one score and Fred Camarote ran back an intercepted pass for the other. In their second game of the week ATO tied KS 6-6. ATO scored on a pass from Jim Waldron to Troy Russell and KS tallied when Ronnie Bonell passed to Al Hall.

PKA broke into the victory column by easily defeating ZBT 32-0. Gordon Prather and George Hicks both scored two touchdowns for PKA while Mike Simpson tallied the other on a short run.

PSK had little difficulty in disposing of FH 26-6. Ronnie Goble ran for two PSK touchdowns and threw for another to lead the attack. Don Dampier scored the other PSK tally when he ran 75 yards on a punt return. Goble passed to Bill Helton for the PSK scoring pass play.

AGR and Tri fought to a 7-7 tie. Lew Feddern scored Tri's touchdown on a pass from Ralph Roberts. The AGR tally came on Dayton Matlick punt return.

SPE scored their initial victory of the season when they handed LXA a 13-0 defeat. LXA lost their first game this season when DTD defeated them 14-0. Bob Stevens

KERNEL SPORTS EDITOR

FLYING back from Birmingham last Sunday night I picked up a bit of information (fact or fiction, you figure it out) concerning ex-UK football coach, Paul Bryant.

Talking to a fellow passenger about the poor season that Alabama is having I remarked that I had overheard a group of men lamenting the fact that the Tide just doesn't have it any more in football. The little conference dealt with various faults of the university and added that there is a movement somewhere down southern way to lure Bryant from his present position at Texas A & M and bring him to Alabama.

"There is a very good chance," my new acquaintance said, "that those men knew what they were talking about." I then learned that this man had been to an Alabama Alum dinner and had also received some data dealing with Bryant's possible change of jobs.

Well, what about it? The "Bear" is famous now for his revamping ability with down and out football squads. In 1946 he left the University of Maryland and accepted a five-year contract at Kentucky.

Grid followers don't have to be reminded about Bryant's record at UK. He pulled the Wildcats from their hiding places and set them up as terrors of the South.

Early in 1954, the "Bear" packed up and departed from Kentucky. He moved in as football tutor at Texas A&M and has, so far, done another outstanding rebuilding job at that school. He has a six year contract at A&M.

BRYANT

There is much certainty in my mind that Alabama would pay a handsome price for this grid genius. He has the reputation of being a slave driver on the practice field but a producing one. Just look at his record.

Bryant played end on the Alabama team from 1938-35 and was a member of the famed Crimson Tide Rose Bowl eleven of 1935. He, upon graduation, became an assistant coach at Bama, later moved to Vanderbilt and finally went into the Navy. From the service Bryant set up shop at Maryland where he compiled a 6-2-1 record there for one year.

SOMEONE slipped through a remark the other day, that it sure must be great to take trips such as the UK football squad goes on. What this person doesn't realize is that throughout a journey to another "land", the Cats are always moving under a pre-arranged itinerary.

There is little time for play or fun. Sure, the travels are interesting; the boys see some famous sights, they meet outstanding people, but they can never forget that they are there for a job, win a game.

Arriving at their destination, the squad usually goes straight out to a field for practice. Later, after settling in hotel rooms, they go to supper, usually attend a movie, and are in bed by 10:30 p.m. Not much time for play here is there.

The next morning, Saturday, they have breakfast, kill an hour or two visiting places close by and then settle into squad meetings.

It's now dinner time, rest before game (if it is in the afternoon), dress for the tilt, play the game, and head back to Lexington.

Can you call this a pleasure trip? This was typical of last Saturday's journey to Alabama.

THEIR second game of the season rolls around this weekend as the UK Kittens invade Nashville for a Saturday night tilt with Vanderbilt's Baby Commodores.

Wilson Elected Rifle Captain

Charles A. Wilson, a Versailles, Ky. senior, was elected captain of the UK rifle team at a meeting held Wednesday in Buell Armory.

Other members of the team are manager Wesley N. Simms, H. D. Goff, George B. Adams, George H. Calvert, Jr., Joe L. King, Fred H. Goldbecker, Jr., Edward C. Price, Jr., William H. Rees, Marvin C. Goff, George W. Mountjoy, and L. B. Barker.

The only returning lettermen are Wilson, H. D. Goff, and King. Colonel H. H. Rogers, rifle coach announced that tryouts would be held until the first Friday in November, at which time the squad would be cut to 20 men. He also stated that the varsity would be firing each Friday and that when matches started, his traveling squad would consist of the previous Friday's top 10 shooters.

Kentucky's rifle team is a member of the Ohio Valley League, composed of Ohio State, Ohio University, University of Cincinnati, University of Miami (O.), Xavier University, and the University of Dayton.

It launches the '55 season November 19 at Cincinnati against Xavier University.

The remainder of the schedule is as follows: December 10, Ohio University at Athens; February 11, Ohio State at Columbus; March 10, Dayton at Dayton.

This schedule will be followed by the National Rifle Association Intercollegiate Championship held March 17. Kentucky fires in the region six match, which was won last year by the University of Michigan.

An interesting side light concerning last year's region six winner is the fact that their number two shooter was a girl.

Cats Prep For Maroon Land Attack

By BILL HENRY

Boasting last year's Most Valuable Player in the SEC, Art Davis, the Mississippi State Maroons lock horns with Kentucky tomorrow night in a game that could produce the fanciest display of running seen here in many a fall.

Last week before 19,000 homecoming fans, State unleashed its lumbering land machine to subdue a fumbling Tulane Green Wave 14-0. This gives the Maroons a three and one mark for the season.

Coach Darrell Royal's charges so far have ground out an average of 271.8 yards a game against Florida, Tennessee, Memphis State and Tulane. In last week's game they rolled up 224 yards on the ground and 72 yards via the air lanes for a game total of 296 yards. It might be remembered that this was against the third best defensive team in the conference.

The Maroons themselves have been very stingy this year in giving up real estate to their opponents. Up until last week's game, State ranked second in defense having given up a mere 400 yards to three foes. They have now in four games allowed only 129 yards by passing which places them fourth in pass defense.

Four times last week Tulane drove inside the Mississippi State 10 yard line only to have the huge forward wall stiffen and hold off the attack.

Top running threat for the Maroon's again this year is speedy

Art Davis who operates from the right half spot. This elusive seat back, who does the 100 in 9.9, was named to the pre-season all-SEC and many of the all-American polls.

Meanwhile, Kentucky, who had Monday off to rest up after the Auburn game, has been prepping their ground defenses to stop States running game. Many of the week's practice sessions had to have the practice field lights turned on to finish drills.

Rough sessions were held for the line while the backs were sharpening ground and aerial plays. Wildcat fans will also have the opportunity of seeing three potential all-Americans in Art Davis and guard Bill Dooley of State and Bob Hardy of Kentucky when the Saturday night attraction gets under way.

Kentucky Ties Favored Auburn In Bruising Clash At Birmingham

Second Half Touchdown Halts Tiger Win Streak

A partially blocked field goal attempt in the last 48 seconds of play enabled the Wildcats to tie Auburn's Plainsmen 14-14 in a bruising, jarring battle at Birmingham last Saturday. Auburn missed three field goal attempts during the contest.

By gaining a tie, the Big Blue halted Auburn's nine game win streak and kept the Tigers from setting a new school streak record.

Kentucky scored early in the game as an Auburn safety man fumbled a UK punt on his own 30 yard marker. A Bob Hardy to Don Netoski pass good for the touchdown came after six minutes of play.

Battling right back the Tigers drove 34 yards, after intercepting a Hardy pass, on straight power plays to knot the score at seven all. Joe Childress, Auburn's smashing all-American fullback candidate, scored to climax this drive.

Three minutes later Auburn had scored again on a sensational run by Fob James. The fleet-footed halfback took a hand-off and sped 67 yards straight up the middle with out a hand being laid on him to put Auburn out in front 14-7.

After intermission the Big Blue roared back with a smashing ground attack that covered 72 yards and ended in the Plainsmen's end zone. The final play of this series was Hardy's fake to Bobby Walker and a pitch out to Woody Herzog sweeping wide around left end for the tally. Many of the spectators and visiting press missed the play entirely due to Hardy's ball-hiding on the play.

From here the game settled down to a rock 'em, sock 'em, affair with neither team giving any quarter. Kentucky's chances suffered a tremendous setback when they sustained a 15 yard holding penalty inside the Auburn ten yard line.

The game ended after an unsuccessful field goal attempt by the Tigers with Kentucky in possession of the ball on their own 20. Auburn drove within Kentucky's 20 yard line twice during the final period but each time was stopped by the UK line.

Top Paintings To Be Shown

One of the most outstanding group of paintings ever to be shown in Lexington will go on exhibit in the UK Art Gallery, Sunday, Oct. 16, Clinton Adams, head of the Art Department said.

On that day, an opening reception will be held in the Art Gallery from 3 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

One of the two exhibitions to be put on display is titled The Nineteenth Century Landscape. It will include fifty paintings by such great masters as Turner, Corot, Daubigny, Monet, Pissarro, Inness, and Whistler.

Including French, American, and English painting, the exhibition will trace the gradual development of landscape painting in one of its greatest centuries.

Especially well represented are the mid-century Barbizon painters. This group of French artists paved the way for the Impressionist painters by being the first to work on their canvases out-of-doors. This exhibition will continue through Nov. 16.

The second exhibition, to be shown with the landscape exhibition, will be twelve, 20th century paintings from the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum in New York. This group will remain on display until Dec. 17.

One outstanding painting in this group is the large oil, On Brooklyn Bridge. It was painted in 1917 by Albert Gleizes, one of the original founders of Cubism. Other artists whose works are included are Paul Klee, Wasily Kandinsky, and Pablo Picasso.

Prof. Clinton Adams, head of the Art Department, has issued the following statements concerning the coming exhibition.

"The Art Department feels that it is vitally important that there should be frequent exhibitions of this character and quality. Too many of our students have never had the opportunity to see and study original works of art by the great masters. And the genuine experience of art cannot be gotten from a reproduction, however good it may be.

The Art Department feels that some of the paintings being representational and others being abstract is fortunate in that this demonstrates that quality in art is not limited to a single style or tradition.

Following the opening, Oct. 16, the gallery will be open daily except Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 1 to 4 p.m. It will be open Sunday afternoons from 3 to 5 p.m.
